CHAUNCEY HOLT, PRINTER, 27 ROSE ST., N. Y.

OUR NEW SECRETARY.

The Trustees of the Congregational Church-Building Society; at their monthly meeting on January 21st, elected the REV. CHARLES H. RICHARDS, D.D., Pastor of the Central Congregational Church in Philadelphia, as Secretary, in succession to the Rev. L. H. Cobb, D.D., and he has accepted the election.

Dr. Richards' pastorate of a dozen years in Philadelphia has brought him into close relations with the Eastern churches, while his previous pastorate in Madison, Wis., gave him intimate familiarity with the conditions and needs of the churches in the West. He has been closely identified with the benevolent work of the denomination, and was elected a trustee at the last annual meeting of this Society.

He enters upon a work which has been developed to an extraordinary degree under the sagacious management of Dr. Cobb; but Dr. Richards has displayed those qualities of intelligence, energy and gracious urbanity which give reason to anticipate that he will develop still more largely the work of this Society and hold for it the growing affection of the churches which give it support or receive its aid.

THE FIFTIETH ANNUAL MEETING OF THE
CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH-BUILDING SOCIETY.

The Fiftieth Annual Meeting of the Congregational Church-Building Society was held January 8th, 1903, at half-past three o'clock P. M., in Room 820 in the Charities Building, 105 East 22d Street, New York City.

The President, Dr. L. C. Warner, was chairman of the meeting.

Rev. Frank Russell was chosen Recording Secretary.

The reports of the Corresponding Secretary and Treasurer were read, approved and referred to the Board for publication.

The following officers and trustees were elected:

A committee consisting of R. T. Hall, D.D., Mr. William H. Nichols, Mr. J. L. Halsey, C. H. Richards, D.D., and Mr. John H. Washburn was appointed to consider the change of basis of representation and the time and place of holding the annual meetings, and to report at the next annual meeting.

FIFTIETH ANNUAL REPORT OF THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES

OF THE

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH-BUILDING SOCIETY.

We have come to our year of jubilee. On the 11th of May, 1853, the Church-Building Society was organized under the name of the American Congregational Union, which it bore until May 9th, 1892, when it became the Congregational Church-Building Society. Our friends will find it exceedingly interesting, if they have a complete set of the annual reports of the Society, to turn back and compare the beginnings of this half century with the closing years. Possibly, it may be deemed best that that history should be written out in full; but as this is the annual report of the work of the Society, such a sketch would hardly be in place here.

The year has been an exceedingly busy one—a very encouraging one—and yet, in some respects, not what we could have desired. Large as our receipts have come to be, there is still room for a much larger sum, which could be appropriated without a dollar of waste and with very little additional expense in the office or in the field.

Appropriations amounting to $59,948 in the form of grants have been made to 114 churches during the year 1902. Appropriations amounting $109,750 in the form of loans on church buildings have been made to 49 churches. Appropriations have been made from the Parsonage Fund to 62 churches to assist them in erecting homes for ministers, amounting to $37,550.

These appropriations by no means cover the actual want vigorously pressed upon the Board from various parts of the field. The Board has dealt generously with the money received, and has appropriated as near the sums asked as funds would allow. There has been an unusual degree of promptness in answering [calls which have come from the field. In former years five or six months' delay was sometimes necessitated by the shortness of funds. The delay has been much less this year than in many of the previous years.

Appropriations previously made have been paid in the form of grants to 71 churches during the year, amounting in all to $44,623.05. Appropriations have been paid in the form of loans to 37 churches amounting to $78,850. 15 of these churches received both loan and grant. Appropriations have been paid to aid in erecting parsonages to 44 churches amounting to $24,625. By comparing this record with that of previous years, it will be seen to be a very good one.

By the favor of a kind providence, the present and former officers of the Board have been spared to the work, with the exception of the Secretary, who, on account of serious illness, felt compelled in September to place his resignation in the hands of the Board, to take effect when his successor was installed in office, but not later than December 31st, 1902. This makes the term of service twenty-one years, lacking two months. The Board has accepted his resignation, but has made him Secretary Emeritus, to perform such service as his strength will allow. The letter of resignation of the Secretary, and the action of the Board upon it, will be found on subsequent pages of this number of the QUARTERLY.

Mr. Francis A. Palmer, a member of the Board of Trustees from 1886 to 1897, died recently, at the advanced age of ninety years. He was a generous giver to objects of religious benevolence.

The reports of the Field Secretaries will be read with interest, and will show that an immense amount of very earnest work has been done by these men, which has made them indispensable to the success [of the work of the Society. Their valuable suggestions will have [the due consideration of the Board and commend themselves to the friends of the Society in all parts of the country.

For the detailed statement of receipts from churches and individuals, sufficiently itemized to answer all reasonable questions, our readers are referred to the report of the Treasurer.

In behalf of the Board of Trustees.

L. H. COBB, Recording Secretary.

CONWAY, MASS., Sept. 15, 1902.

To the Board of Trustees of the Congregational Church-Building Society:

After what manner I have served you as Secretary of The Congregational Church-Building Society since February 25th, 1882, you are my witnesses. Four of you have been on the Board during the whole time. By no means has all been accomplished that I could have wished. It has, however, been a matter of profound encouragement to see the increase in the number of contributing churches and the receipts from the same. In 1882, 904 churches contributed $51,322.28. In 1901, 3,004 churches contributed $251,668.85. The number of aided churches has nearly trebled. The Church-Building Loan Fund has been largely and permanently increased, and the Parsonage Fund entirely accumulated. That fund on the 1st of January, 1902, was $112,320.75, and the number of parsonages on our record is 781.

These facts, particularly the broadening of our area of benevolent givers, has given steadiness to the work and warrants an encouraging outlook for the future.

Having now for several months been unable to do the full work of the Secretary, having put to the best use the time so generously granted by the Board on leave of absence, and finding myself still unable to resume the work of the office for some time to come, I place in your hands my resignation of the office of Secretary, to take effect when my successor shall have been chosen and has entered the work, but not later, I hope, than January 1st, 1903.

This surrender of the place I have so long held is done at no little sacrifice of personal advantage and feeling. My regard for the best interests of the Society constrains me to do it.

Thanking the Board and the churches most heartily for uniform courtesy, generous appreciation and hearty co-operation, I subscribe myself, personally and officially,

Yours most truly,

L. H. COBB, Secretary.

The Trustees of the Congregational Church-Building Society would put on record their deep appreciation of the invaluable services of Dr. L. H. Cobb, for twenty-one years Secretary of this Society. He came to its service from the experience of the needs and trials of our mission churches, and brought to it warm sympathy, practical wisdom, ready initiative and diligent fidelity.

His service has witnessed an extraordinary development of the methods and the resources of this Society. Under his wise direction there have been created our Parsonage Loan Fund and our Church-Building Loan Fund. He has supervised the erection of eight hundred parsonages, while before he entered on his services parsonages hardly existed, especially in the West. Through legacies that have come to the Society the Loan Fund has been able to give loans to the extent of nearly a million dollars for the erection of churches in our cities and principal towns, where larger sums were required and where repayment might be expected.

By his fine ecclesiastical statesmanship, his wise and prudent management of the interests of the Society, his faithful attention to the multitude of applications that have come to him, and his genial Christian intercourse with his associates in the office or on the Board, he has laid us and all our churches under unspeakable obligation, and the period of his administration will be notable in the history of the Society as that in which, under new methods, it grew into a far larger usefulness and a more generous appreciation of the mutually helpful fellowship of our Congregational churches.

We deeply regret that his years and his failing strength have made it necessary that he should withdraw from this work; but we hope that he may long be spared to see the ever-enlarging results of his devoted labors for the Kingdom of his Master.

OBLIGATIONS OF CHURCHES AIDED BY THE CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH-BUILDING SOCIETY.

A church which receives aid from the Congregational Church-Building Society assumes in the mortgages which it gives the following definite obligations:

1. To keep the church or parsonage insured for the benefit of the Society to the full amount of the aid granted, as shown by the mortgage, in an insurance company approved by the Society.
2. In case the aid is in the form of a grant, to take up a collection each year for the Society.
3. In case the aid is a loan, to make payments on the loan in accordance with the terms agreed upon, and also to take up an annual collection for the Society.

4. In case of a loan of $2,500 and over, to pay, in addition to the other obligations, a small annual interest on the loan.

The object of these requirements is to keep up the funds of the Society, so that they may be used over again in meeting calls for aid from other churches. The receipts from church loans returned during 1901 were $45,845.39, and during 1902 were $50,728.58. The receipts from parsonage loans returned for 1901 were $22,111.07, and for 1902 were $22,014.47. The amount that came in contributions from aided churches for 1901 was $22,273, and for 1902 $29,227.06. It will thus be seen that the Society is largely dependent on the fidelity of aided churches in meeting their obligations, for the funds to meet the new calls for help that come in increasing numbers each year.

The Society has two distinct funds for the aid of churches—one to be used for grants and the other to be used for loans. All of the money for church parsonages was given to the Society as a loan fund, and therefore can be used only for loans. It is usually the policy of the Society, in aiding small churches in the country, to appropriate the money as a grant, requiring only an annual collection from the aided church.

In aiding city churches, where large amounts are needed, the help is given in the form of a loan, to be repaid in annual installments, the time usually running five years. The demand upon the grant fund is so great that it is nearly always over-drawn, so that the Society is not able to supply the wants of the large churches except from the loan fund. In addition to this, the money accomplishes more for the churches if it can be repaid and used over again every five years.

Many churches aided by loans have been prompt and business-like in meeting their obligations, and to these the Society is indebted for over fifty thousand dollars from the repayment of loans during the past year. Others, we regret to say, do not have so good a record. Do these churches realize that when they are in default in meeting their obligations to the Society they are thereby robbing other equally worthy churches which need help? It is not the Society which suffers—that is only the agent of the churches—but it is the weak and struggling churches, which look to the Society for help. If the churches which are in default in their payments could realize the hardships which others are suffering from their neglect, we are sure they would make greater efforts to meet their obligations with promptness.

LUCIEN C. WARNER,

President.

NINETEENTH ANNUAL REPORT OF
REV. C. H. TAINTOR,

FIELD SECRETARY FOR THE INTERIOR DISTRICT.

The Chicago District includes the following states: Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, North Dakota, South Dakota, Ohio, Oklahoma, Wisconsin, Wyoming and Colorado.

In this district from 1853 to 1883 (thirty years) only 803 churches were aided and six parsonages. From 1883 to January 1st, 1902, 1,197 church edifices and 542 parsonages have received assistance in building from the Society. In 1884 the total receipts from this district from all sources amounted to $17,343.56, 665 churches contributing. In 1901 the receipts from the same district and from all sources amounted to $97,501.90, 1,576 churches contributing.

This record shows something permanent and definite—a church edifice erected, finished ready for the worship of God, and equipped to do its work, becoming a source of power, life and strength in the community and the world. It is something tangible. They represent golden milestones on the way to the millennium. Each one of these church edifices represents sacrifice, anxiety and toil, thought and prayer. It is a house of prayer. It is a gate of heaven. In many of the steeples of these churches there is a bell that rings out an invitation to mid-week prayer and Sabbath services. These buildings are the only buildings in the world that tell of man's immortality, and give to him an inspiration and hope beyond this life. These buildings are made possible by the aid of the Church-Building Society, and were assisted with reference to the entire kingdom of Christ. These organizations are rescued from their distress that they may turn about and help others in need of assistance. They have not been asked to help the Congregational Church-Building Society, but through it to help feeble, struggling churches, and thus make the Church-Building Society an expression of the most practical fellowship.

We are glad to report a goodly number of churches that have contributed the amount of aid received from the Society and are now on the Roll of Honor. This number is increasing each year.

The Spring Associations of Michigan, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Iowa were visited, and a large number of local associations in the spring and fall. An increasing interest in the work of church building is awakening, and the Chicago City Missionary Society is raising a special fund of $150,000 for this purpose.

The Church-Building Society has still an immense work to do.

Mrs. Taintor has visited and spoken before state meetings of Woman's Home Missionary Societies and meetings in local churches, and the interest has been sustained and increased.

Associated closely with the retiring Secretary and knowing every feature of the work, both from the position of the office and on the field, I can but express my profound admiration for the most brilliant and remarkable administration of a Society which, by the energy, consecration, sagacity and leadership of Secretary Cobb, has been elevated from one of the minor to one of the most important societies in our Congregational fellowship.

FOURTEENTH ANNUAL REPORT OF
REV. GEORGE A. HOOD,
FIELD SECRETARY FOR NEW ENGLAND.

The event of the year in the history of the Congregational Church-Building Society in New England, as elsewhere, is Secretary Cobb's retirement from the work. Years ago, after his pastorate in Springfield, Vt., he went to Minnesota as Home Missionary Superintendent. He began to visit his churches to the most northern frontier, where I received him in my prairie-shanty home, twenty-five miles from a railroad. Ever since then I have recognized the peculiar ties between him and his workers. In Minnesota he inspired the missionaries to revivals, to large beneficences, and to such business methods in church work, that the calls from the new towns for Congregational churches were far beyond the capacity of the Home Missionary Society to answer. No rivalry with other denominations, but when he came we were far behind the Presbyterian, but when he went from the State we were ahead of them. In seven years, he and such grand Home Missionary Directors as Rev. Henry A. Simon, D.D., Rev. E. M. Williams, D.D., and President James W. Strong, of Carleton College, as President of the Home Missionary Society, made Minnesota the model missionary State. The fellowship of the Minneapolis and St. Paul Congregational pastors was peculiarly affectionate, and he was a leader in this.

During the last year of his superintendency in Minnesota the income of the Congregational Church-Building Society had been only $23,509, so that his worst problem was to provide the churches with buildings. It was this difficulty which prepared him to raise the receipts of the Church-Building Society during his first year as Secretary to $100,518, and in twenty-one years to $251,668. He has been a phenomenal worker, turning off a vast amount of correspondence and other business without as much clerical assistance as would be necessary for other men. The whole country will miss him.

IN NEW ENGLAND.

All the New England States ask aid from the Congregational Church-Building Society when they need it. This is right, for the mortgage and safeguards of the Building Society should secure such contributions here as is found necessary in the rest of the country. New England churches should have aid from the Church-Building Society, if they need it, as readily as from the Home Missionary Society when they need it. But the neglect of the Congregational Church-Building Society in New England is wrong, for most of the other States which ask aid put the Congregational Church-Building Society highest or second or third in their beneficences, while New England States put it among the lowest—so low that it does not have its natural share of legacies, annuities, individual gifts, and contribution from ladies' and Christian Endeavor societies and Sunday-schools.

Strange as it sounds, the State of Maine, though self-supporting in home missionary lines, was not self-supporting in this line. Maine was voted in 1901 $1,400, and in 1902 $1,500, while the receipts from the State by the Building Society in 1901 were $757.34. More astounding yet, Massachusetts has for two years asked as much aid from the Congregational Church-Building Society as the whole State has given to the Society, or even more, including legacies; and this though the Society can aid only two-thirds of the churches organized throughout the country, and an annual average of 46 per cent. of those organized have died, mostly for lack of that aid. Probably this is the chief reason why our denomination is so small.

The feature of the year 1902 is that so many Conferences have voted, in substance, that "Since our State asks large aid from only these two societies, that it is only fair to put the Church-Building Society next to the Home Missionary Society in amount contributed, until we are able to build a church for every one organized, as the other denominations do."

To promote this I have made, in 1902, 118 church-building addresses in 79 churches and 18 associations, beside nine other addresses on other subjects and 14 sermons, and made 129 calls on individuals in the interest of this work. This has involved 19,344 miles of travel.

OUR CONGREGATIONAL HONOR AND RESPONSIBILITY.

During this year, seven weeks were spent attending six Western State Associations and inspecting the fields aided or needing the aid of the Society. I found the Congregational Home Missionary work in a high state of efficiency and continually improving.

Congregationalists have been given great honor and responsibility in developing this nation. It began with the Pilgrims at Plymouth and the Puritans at Salem, and is now being perpetuated by the Congregational Home Missionary superintendents and missionaries. The new towns call to them for Congregational churches as the best kind of union, in which Christians of all denominations unite to dominate the town. I assisted in dedicating a church in North Dakota where one denomination had already failed. The town-site proprietor is an Episcopalian, his wife a Presbyterian; he promoted a Congregational church as he does his town, because in union there is strength; he personally gave about a thousand dollars on the church building, and called for the mortgage of the Church-Building Society to protect his own and other gifts because of the conglomerate membership.

This union feature of our work is universal. In Colorado, every church organized by Mr. Sanderson, the Home Missionary Superintendent, was in a town where there was no other religious work. It was the same in North Dakota; other superintendents and missionaries of long service say that this is their experience. Congregationalism suits the new towns so exactly that the rapidity of our growth seems limited only by the men and the money. The last State Association of South Dakota reported that during the last ten years the population has increased 15 per cent., all denominations more than that, the average of all denominations except Congregational being 23 per cent., and the Congregational increase was 44 per cent. About the same was true in Montana. The official State paper of the Wisconsin Home Missionary Society, Our Church Life, reported a year ago that during the past ten years the population of the State had increased about 22 per cent., the membership of the Protestant churches 29 per cent., and of the Congregational churches 45.3 per cent., with an increase of 80 per cent. in beneficence. The union spirit was shown in the fact that the Presbyterian Synod recommended the use of our colleges to Presbyterian churches, because the colleges were really the outgrowth of the two denominations in Wisconsin, though nominally Congregational in their ecclesiastical relation. The same Home Missionary and Church-Building policy operating in Home Missionary States may produce corresponding results.

A strong evangelistic tendency was also noticeable everywhere. The State Convention of Wisconsin appointed a Committee on Revivals, with Rev. F. T. Rouse as chairman, who received at one communion this year 163 new members, 153 of them on confession, grandparents joining with their children, as the result of meetings held by an evangelist, which "plainly shows that the days of revivals are not over, and the complete ministry of the Church still needs the peculiar gifts of the evangelist." In Wisconsin, also, Christian traveling men have an organization called the "Gideons," three years old, with 2,400 members, to encourage all they meet to earnest Christian lives. They attend church wherever they are, and have conducted evangelistic meetings with marvelous power and blessing.

In Nebraska the State Association kept Rev. James Chalmers speaking an hour and a quarter, then asked him questions for another hour, telling of the Elgin movement and how he received 756 new members in two years, almost all on confession. In Wyoming the calendar in use in Congregational homes is a prayer calendar, in which the whole year is given to praying for the different Congregational churches of Wyoming; the pastor prepares the selections for the time given to his church.

The bearing of all this vigorous Christian work is evident when we remember that no church can succeed without a church building, or build without aid, which aid must come mostly from the Congregational Church-Building Society.

May God grant that we rightly recognize our honors and discharge our responsibilities.

EIGHTH ANNUAL REPORT OF REV. H. H. WIKOFF,

FIELD SECRETARY FOR THE PACIFIC SLOPE.

Two facts have had their influence upon the church building work in the year just gone—one, the influx of people to these western shores. All along the coast, immigrants—as many as fifty thousand in Washington—have been finding new homes, some in search of wealth, others of health, and many to enjoy the milder climate found here. Hence cities have increased their population, towns have grown and new communities have been formed. Naturally resulting therefrom have been numerous demands for church facilities. In one metropolis, two churches fairly well established and promising, though not financially strong, have felt it imperative to enlarge their seating capacity—one erecting an entirely new edifice. In a town of nearly twenty thousand inhabitants—all within ten years—"our plant, though adequate, is not, owing to the peculiar development of a bay side and a river side, well located, and if we are to maintain our own and be a center in a rapidly-developing county, a new plant must be established, while at the same time the present one must remain that proper ministrations may be made to a growing neighborhood." Added to such demands have been those of newer hamlets, thus altogether characterizing the year as one of the greatest in this particular. And the end is not yet. The opportunities, varied in kind, offered this side of the Rockies, will continually draw multitudes to a betterment of their lot, and unless the tide of prosperity turns we may reasonably expect the next few years to equal if not exceed this in the calls for help from the Congregational Church-Building Society.

The other fact is the prevailing business activity, seldom, if ever, equalled in this part of the world. Save a small district in the extreme south, where drought has done its damaging work, the entire region from the mountains to the sea has rejoiced in the plentiful circulation of money, many accumulating fortunes.

Such an experience could not be without its effect upon the churches. In some cases it has been manifest in increased contributions, in one in the refunding the whole amount received as a grant, and in numerous instances in widespread effort to discharge the obligations made by the loans from the Board. Several parsonage accounts have been closed, and churches for some time so cramped that it seemed next to impossible to meet the installments have rallied to the payment of the same; and, what is more, in some cases the date of final liquidation has been anticipated and our hearts made glad by hundreds of dollars pouring in, thus enabling this branch of the work to do larger things as the opportunities press. And, further, this effort is continuing. Our only church in Nevada, necessarily embarrassed not many years since by the financial stringency, is at this writing putting forth strenuous efforts to entirely wipe out its indebtedness to the Board, and the confident expectation is, the first month of the new year will not close ere the full amount be subscribed and a fair proportion paid. All of this means much. To some churches it means self-support and aggressive work in all lines. It reveals on the part of our people honorable recognition of debts contracted by the churches, when perhaps many of the present members had no part in incurring the same, and with this recognition a hearty participation in the liquidating of the debts. It reveals the wisdom of the denomination in providing such a system of co-operation, and the wisdom of the Board in patiently waiting for these struggling institutions to come to a fair measure of financial as well as spiritual strength.

While, in the foregoing, the representative of the Board has had his part—and a glad part it was—he has in the year just gone found it possible to be longer absent from the office than ever before. While accustomed to attend Associations and visit churches as opportunity offered, never in such unbroken succession has he found it within his power to devote himself to one portion of the field. For nearly twenty continuous weeks he gave himself to this, visiting south and north. Leaving his office in July he did not see it again until October, spending the interim in the Northwest. On Sundays he spoke in some of the larger churches, and as frequently as possible gave a week-night to the more remote and secluded parishes. And that he might not be without an audience, especially difficult to gather in the warm summer evenings, he availed himself of the willing service of his wife, who manipulated a rented stereopticon, while he lectured on "God's Temple," showing the people somewhat of the history of the House of God from the time of the Tabernacle to that of the latest structure made possible through the Congregational Church-Building Society. While, with fair congregations, offerings were not as large as some might hope, knowledge was spread abroad, wider interest was awakened, and the well-nigh inestimable value of church building co-operation emphasized. By such and other efforts the Board is becoming more and more recognized as indispensable in the work Congregationalism is doing for the Kingdom on the Coast, and if like or better may be made in the future there is abundant reason to expect a practical fellowship on the part of the churches, not only more extended but more intense—i. e., characterized by larger gifts of money.

Surely, from what has been said, no one can read either in or between the lines anything pessimistic. On the other hand, penning these words on one of the brightest and most beautiful of California's winter days, he is optimistic to the extreme. Rejoicing in what his own eyes have seen of the progress of the work in these nearly eight years of his experience, he looks forward with large hope and great expectancy. Closing the year with the receipts of this office $4,000 in excess of 1901, he sees no reason why, with a wise and loving policy, there may not be a continual enjoyment of the work—more churches in needy communities aided by the Board, and a growing responsiveness on the part of the ever-increasing number of loyal Congregationalists making their home by the western sea.

PAID TO PARSONAGES.

List of appropriations paid as loans to aid in building parsonages for Congregational Churches. These loans are secured by a first mortgage on the property, and are paid to the Society in installments; the annual sums so paid vary according to the amount of the loan. When the payments thus made are equal to the amount of the mortgage, the obligation of the church is to be cancelled, and the parsonage becomes the property of the church free from all debts.
